Regression Trees

when what we wish to predict is continuous instead of categorical

Regression Trees

when what we wish to predict is continuous instead of categorical

for every data point that ends up in a leaf, we predict its value is the mean of all values that ended up in that node when training